SCAM ALERT!

Have you received a text message from yourself?

There is a new Smishing scam circulating the nation thanking the recipient for paying a bill and includes a "gift" of a malicious link.

What is Smishing?

Smishing is defined as: the fraudulent practice of sending text messages purporting to be from reputable companies in order to induce individuals to reveal personal information, such as passwords or credit card numbers.

Hackers are getting creative in their approach and it's important to look for warning signs before clicking on any external links on your phone or computer. Please take a moment to watch this video to learn how to protect yourself and your information.
